JBMR Policy: Authors are required to disclose any financial interests, direct or indirect (dual commitment), that might affect the conduct or reporting of the work they have submitted. Such financial interests may take the form of corporate appointments, consultancies, stock ownership, or other equity interests or patent licensing arrangements with companies mentioned in or related to the subject matter of the article being submitted. If the authors are uncertain about what might be a dual commitment, they should err on the side of full disclosure. Any limitation to the full access of the Authors to all material must be disclosed.
